

2010 Homecoming

October 23, 2010

Overview: The 96th annual Homecoming celebration is just around the corner! This community-wide event continues to grow year after year and this year will be no exception. More than 50,000 alumni and students are expected to attend the days' festivities. This year's event offers something for everyone including the Homecoming parade, class and college village tents and a food court.

When: Saturday, October 23, 2010
Event time: Five hours prior to kickoff
The official kickoff for Homecoming tents on the mall events depends on the published time of the UA vs. Washington football game.

Community Participation: The success of Homecoming depends on the participation of all University departments and colleges. This is a unique once-a-year opportunity for the university to come together to celebrate the past and look forward to the future.
